Aces assistant coach Kevin Grugan's daughter, Hope, lives with Angelman Syndrome (AS), a neurogenetic disorder that occurs in one of every 15,000 live births. Characteristics of AS include developmental delay, lack of speech, seizures and walking and balance disorders.

Hope is a beautiful, amazing girl and an inspiration to all who know her. Friday's games will honor her remarkable progress and raise critical funds and awareness for the Angelman Syndrome Foundation and the Foundation for Angelman Syndrome Therapeutics, two of the largest non-governmental funders of AS-specific research. Their work has helped bring forth new discoveries that give hope for therapies and ultimately a cure for AS, and the Hope Classic in its first 5 years has helped raise over $10,000 towards their efforts.

Lower Merion welcomes Haverford High School, Lynnewood Elementary School, and Chatham Park Elementary to be a part of a great evening of basketball and help make a difference in the lives of those affected by AS!
